Scottish Swimming Awards

Saturday 1st October 2016

Assembly Rooms, 54 George Street
Edinburgh EH2 2LR

Following the success of last year's event, Scottish Swimming Awards 2016 returns to the stunning surrounds of the Assembly Rooms in Edinburgh for what we are sure will be, a great night to remember.

Our performance athletes will have just returned from Rio and we hope that the night will offer some fantastic opportunities to celebrate medal success with them, as well as athletes representing all disciplines, their coaches, their clubs, our partners and of course our dedicated army of volunteers who have supported them on their journey.

Also fresh back from Rio and returning by popular demand, will be our host for the evening, Steve Parry.

So book your ticket(s) now and secure a place at one of the best awards event of the year!

Understanding Mindset

You may have heard the term "Mindset" used in many different places including within schools, clubs or the District Regional Programme but what does it actually mean within sport?

To help answer this question, first of all ask yourself ;

"Are champions born or made?"

and

"What does an athlete need to reach their full potential in sport?"

Answered the questions? Please read on to find out more!

Scottish Swimming believes that champions can be made and therefore in addition to physical, technical and psychological skills, your mindset towards sport is vital to your success.

What is mindset?

Mindset is a belief about a swimmers ability and where it comes from. The key to achieving full potential is not ability level or talent: it is a swimmers belief about ability.

"People say I have a great talent, but in my opinion excellence has nothing to do with talent. It is about what you choose to believe and how determined you are to get there. The mind is more powerful than anything else"
Michael Phelps. 2009

There are 2 types of Mindset:

GROWTH: swimmers abilities can be developed through learning and hard work.

FIXED: swimmers abilities are natural (perhaps inherited)

With a growth mindset, failures are seen by swimmers as learning opportunities believing that maximising potential requires a lot of consistent hard work.

"I've missed more than 9000 shots in my career. I've lost almost 300 games. 26 times, I've been trusted to take the game winning shot and missed. I've failed over and over and over again in my life. And that is why I succeed".
Michael Jordan

If a swimmer approaches the sport with a growth mindset, he/she are more likely to be focussed on being the best that they can be, training hard and learning as much as they can. Swimmers seek to learn from everyone: coaches, other athletes, different sports. Swimmers set down their own goals and control their programme (coaches or others will help). Swimmers know that they cannot predict what they will achieve with years of dedicated and purposeful training. Their challenge is to understand where they are now and HOW they can improve.

Understanding Mindset

The table below summarises some of differences in behaviour that you might recognise in more growth or fixed mindset athletes;

	Fixed Mindset	Growth Mindset
Leads to...	...a desire to show off talent and therefore a tendency to...	...believe in hard and healthy learning and a tendency to...
Challenges	...avoid challenges	...embrace challenges
Setbacks	...give up easily	...persist in the face of setbacks
Effort	...see effort as fruitless or worse	...see effort as the path to mastery
Criticism	...ignore useful negative feedback	...learn from criticism
Failure	...reflects a lack of talent	...is a learning opportunity
Potential	...is measured by current performance (e.g. PB or current skills)	...cannot be measured
Success of others	...feel threatened by the success of others	...find lessons and inspiration from the success of others
As a result...	May plateau early and "under achieve"	Reach ever higher levels of achievement

Can mindset be changed?
Yes it can!

In the first instance knowing about growth and fixed mindsets can challenge a swimmer's beliefs to help improve performance.

Scottish Swimming has, over the past 2 – 3 years integrated the "mindset" concept within the National Programme (including District Regional Programme) and the National Squads Selection Policy. Over the coming years Scottish Swimming is looking to widen the approach across the sport through coach, swimmer and parental education.

What can you do in the meantime?

If you want to know more about "Mindset" and Talent Development, why don't you visit the sportscotland institute of sport website for more information;

Search for "sportscotland learning talent" in your browser.

"Success is a long term journey, filled with many experiences. More often than not, swimmers that complete their personal journey are those that have persevered, enjoying the challenge of overcoming the ups and downs of swimming, learning how best to improve their own performance."

Alan Lynn, Scottish Swimming National Coach, 2016

Club Support

Support Available for Clubs across Scotland

Clubs remain Scottish Swimming's core membership group, supporting a quality experience for interested athletes wishing to progress in their discipline. We believe that strong clubs can offer local communities a vibrant focus for volunteer and athlete development, essential for creating lifelong participants and local and national heroes.

Scottish Swimming wants to support clubs to sustainably grow the active membership of their club, consequently increasing the opportunities they offer and the number of people taking part in club swimming or other aquatic disciplines. In addition, we want to support clubs to create an environment where the required coaching, practice time and attitudes are fostered and displayed to support the progression of athletes aspiring to world class performance.

The support currently available from Scottish Swimming is designed to help with this through the following resources.
